National Wildlife Refuge Bird Checklist

Welcome

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, established in 1937, consists of 61,500 acres of wetland and upland habitats located in northwestern Minnesota. The refuge lies in the aspen parkland transition zone between the boreal forest to the north and east and the tallgrass prairie to the south and west. Twenty-six wetland impoundments that range in size from 30 to 9,000 acres provide a variety of habitats for both nesting and migrating birds. Additionally, two natural lakes lie within 4,000 acres of black spruce-tamarack bog that has been designated as "Wilderness" by the National Wilderness Preservation System. Other habitats include oak- and aspen-dominated woodlands, willow-dominated shrublands, and limited grassland areas. The refuge is located within the Mississippi Flyway and is one of over 540 refuges in the National Wildlife Refuge System.

The refuge has been designated a Globally Important Bird Area for its efforts to conserve wild birds and their habitats. The best opportunities for bird observation are spring, summer, and fall.

Canada geese typically lead the northward flight of waterfowl in late March and are followed shortly thereafter by mallards, northern pintails, and a variety of diving duck species. Impressive flocks of phalaropes, sandpipers, and plovers buzz mudflats during late spring amid the constant din of up to 40,000 pairs of Franklin's gulls that are establishing colonies in isolated emergent marsh areas.

Breeding vocalizations of numerous sparrow species interrupt the early morning quiet in June. Several thousand stately American white pelicans can be seen foraging on various impoundments, and a true natural resources success story can be witnessed by nesting bald eagles, which returned to Agassiz in 1992. July mornings showcase numerous squadrons of ducklings scattered along shorelines and areas of emergent vegetation, as well as a patchwork of molting waterfowl in open water areas.

Not long after the mass of fall migrating shorebirds have filled up on protein-rich invertebrates and headed to more southerly locations, Agassiz is invaded with a variety of south-bound waterfowl. As many as 75,000 ducks, 15,000 geese, and 1,500 greater sandhill cranes use the refuge as a migratory stopover site. In late fall once the marshes have frozen solid and fields are snow-filled, resident birds search for food and winter cover along with winter migrants, including rough-legged hawks, snow buntings, and an occasional snowy owl.

Checklist

The following checklist includes 298 species which have been observed, and 137 species that nest, or have nested, at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge. This list is arranged in taxonomic order. All species names are in accordance with the American Ornithologists' Union, 1998, Checklist of North American Birds. 7th ed. Am. Ornithol. Union, Washington, D.C. Five species on the list are not native to North America. They include the European starling, gray partridge, house sparrow, ring-necked pheasant, and rock pigeon. Visiting birders are encouraged to share their rare or unusual sightings with refuge staff!

Legend

Because many birds are migratory, their occurrence and relative abundance are divided into four periods as follows:

- Sp..... Spring (March-May)
S..... Summer (June-July)
F..... Fall (August-November)
W..... Winter (December-February)
- c.... Common..... Likely to be seen or heard in suitable habitat.
u ... Uncommon Present, but may not be seen or heard.
o.... Occasional May or may not be present in any one year, regardless of how difficult to find.
r.... Rare..... Has occurred at least once, and may or may not be expected to occur again. Includes casual and accidental species.
i Irregular Abundance varies dramatically from one year to the next.
• Nesting record (includes species which may have only nested once or nest irregularly)
..... State threatened or endangered species
